CHICKEN CLUB OUT-LIVED AT P-T MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held on Tuesday evening in the school. There was a good attendance of members and pupils of the school who had been invited to attend.

Mr. Hall, of the Experimental Station, took the place of Professor Straight, who was unable to be present, and gave a very interesting talk—illustrated by lantern slides. During his address Mr. Hall outlined the idea of a "chicken club." Boys and girls, of the school, who join this club will be given a free setting of 15 eggs to be looked after at their own homes. Prizes will be given on the following conditions: 25 points will be awarded for the number of chicks hatched. In order to make this perfectly fair the eggs provided will be inspected for fertility between the 10th and 12th days. Twenty-five points will be given for the number of chicks alive on July 1st, 25 points for the best hen and rooster exhibited in the fall and 25 points for an essay on "How I Raised My Chickens."

Mr. Ramsay was asked to secure a list of the pupils who wished to enter this contest and further details will be announced after the next meeting.

ENTERTAINER COMING HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

An excellent entertainment is promised those who will hear Mrs. Elsie McLuhan at the Auditorium on Monday next, March 23. Mrs. McLuhan is having a very successful tour through the Upper Country and the Okanagan and in all the towns her entertainments have been unqualified successes, there have been large audience and they have been delighted with her work.

HOMES RANSACKED

On Sunday burglars entered the homes of Mr. A. S. Warrender and Mr. J. Faucett, Amelia Avenue, and Mr. C. Ward, Queen's Ave.

The occupants of the three homes were all absent for the day, so it is believed to be someone very familiar with local affairs.

The homes were all entered through a window and premises generally "stirred up," as if the thieves were looking for something in particular. Nothing of much value, except two rings and a few old coins, have so far been found missing.

There appears to be no clue whatever to the offenders.

A similar burglary took place some months ago, which still seems to be a mystery.

ENTERTAINERS COMING

CAROLINE MCKENZIE AND FRANK HOLDRIDGE WIN WORLD CHAMPIONSHIPS

The tournaments to determine the champion girl and boy player on the new checker board has at last come to a close, after many hair-raising contests in which some games took over an hour to play. The new board was taken to like a duck takes to water and many excellent players have been developed.

Caroline McKenzie Wins

In the girls' tournament Caroline McKenzie, after a great battle with Gertrude Cochran in the final games, conquered her plucky opponent and became the Champion School Girl Checker Player of the World on McIntyre's Checker Board.

The play was as follows, since last published details:—

Caroline McKenzie defeated Ivy Hill.

Frances Thomas defeated Helen Cochran.

Gertrude Cochran defeated Florence Hambley.

Marian Cochran defeated Muriel Holdridge.

The semi-final results:—

Caroline McKenzie defeated Frances Thomas.

Gertrude Cochran defeated Marian Cochran.

Five games were played in the final, Caroline McKenzie defeating Gertrude Cochran three to two in very closely contested games.

May the champion defend her title successfully for a long time.

Frank Holdridge Wins

In the boys' tournament many exciting games were staged, resulting in many surprises as the contest proceeded. Frank Holdridge battled his way through it all, staged the final scene with Gordon Douglas, who failed to stop Frank on his march to the championship. Frank Holdridge is now the Champion School Boy Checker Player of the World on McIntyre's Checker Board.

The play was as follows.—

Stanley Coward defeated Robert Homewood.

Gordon Douglas defeated Hugh Wylie.

Jackie Gilman defeated Stanley Crossley.

Frank Holdridge defeated Joe Musclove.

The semi-finals were as follows:—

Gordon Douglas defeated Stanley Coward.

Frank Holdridge defeated Jackie Gilman.

In the final battle Gordon Douglas endeavored to trim Frank, but Frank executed some tall "think-tank" work and emerged "champeen."

Congratulations to the winners.

The Review will award each champion with a prize.

Editor's Note.—As the writer owns and controls all patent rights that have been granted by different countries, and as the tournaments just concluded are the first organized contests among school pupils played any place in this world, the titles given Caroline McKenzie and Frank Holdridge are legal and binding. They must be defeated in recognized play before the championships pass out of their hands.

Mrs. Maude and Miss Maude expect to be away three or four months.

VICTORIA WINS

Victoria and Calgary played last night in Victoria to determine the championship in the Western League and Victoria won 2 to 0. The rink was packed to capacity and the game was very exciting.

Isabel, aged nine, had just been told the story of Daniel in the Lion's den. Then her mother asked: "And what do you think Daniel did the very first thing after he was saved from the lions?"

Without much hesitation, Isabel replied: "Why, he must have telephoned home to his wife to tell her he was all right."

AUTO ACCIDENT

Last week-end, not far from Sidney, the occupants of an automobile, a lady and gentleman, had a narrow escape when the car in which they were driving, overturned and went into the ditch, wrecking the car and injuring them both.

It is reported that the car, a sports model Chrysler, was being driven by the young lady, and when she came to the corner at Beacon Avenue and East Road, started to turn the wrong way and not seeing her mistake got confused and swerved quickly and put on the breaks, when the car apparently locked and turned completely over, end for end. Into the ditch. Both had to struggle for some time before freeing themselves from the wreck, and they suffered severe bruises, and cuts that required several stitches. They were attended by Dr. Manning and later were taken to the city by Mr. McKenzie of the Sidney Service Station.

SHAWNIGAN BEATS FULFORD

FULFORD HARBOUR, March 19. —The basketball game between Fulford and Shawnigan was very well attended by an enthusiastic audience from all parts, on the 14th, at the Fulford Hall. The game ended in a win for the visitors, 38 to 26.

Mr. Parpitt supplied the music for the dance that followed.

IT MEANT GOOD-BYE, TOO

Since he had been to France, young Slade was very fond of airing his little bit of knowledge of French.

On leaving his friend one evening, he said: "Adieu."

"What do you mean?" asked his pal.

"I mean good-bye—adieu is good-bye in the French language."

"Oh, I see. Well, carolle adieu to you."

"What does that mean?" said Slade.

"That means good-bye in any language."

SOCIAL CLUB DANCE

The Sidney Social Club gave a very successful dance on Tuesday evening, St. Patrick's night, in Berquist hall. There was a large crowd, many being present from outside points—Victoria, Saanichton, Deep Cove and Brentwood.

The music as supplied by Ozard's three-piece orchestra was all that could be desired to make an evening successful and was very much appreciated.

The hall was very prettily decorated with ferns, colored streamers and lights, green predominating, of course, in keeping with St. Patrick's Day, and during the evening each lady was presented with a small spray of green shamrock.

A real good supper was served which had been prepared by the ladies of the club in the supper room, which was also very nicely decorated for the occasion, the tables having pots of real shamrock.

The supper dances were played by Mr. C. Hunt and Mr. Raymond Brethour.

The dance, which was a success in every way, continued until 1 o'clock.

DEATH OF GANGES TEACHER

On Saturday evening, about nine o'clock, Miss Phyllis Hill Gardner, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardner, of the "Cranberry," passed away at the Lady Minto Hospital.

Miss Gardner was teacher at the North Vesuvius school for several years, until about two weeks ago, when she became ill with pleurisy and pneumonia and has been in the hospital since. Miss Gardner was 21 years of age, born in Victoria, and is survived by her father, mother, two brothers, Marvin and Andrey, and sister, Miss Freda Gardner.

The many friends and residents on Salt Spring Island extend to the bereaved family their heart-felt sympathy.

SPECIAL MEETING

PENDER ISLAND, March 19.—On Saturday afternoon a special meeting of the Board of Trade was called at Hope Bay, when A. J. Smith and Geo. W. Dean, of Ganges, attended, and attempted to clear up the misunderstanding which has existed in the ranks for some time. Apologies and condolences were very kindly expressed, and it is hoped that ere long this very necessary organization will again be on a firm working basis, with full membership.

ATHLETIC DANCE

The hall was beautifully decorated with the colors of the club. Many attended from Sidney, Bamber-ton and Victoria.

He: If you refuse me I shall blow out my brains.

She: Impossible.

He: Say, you don't think I have a pistol?

She: Oh, I daresay you have the pistol all right.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMME FOR GULF ISLANDS

The concert party from Victoria, which is to visit the Gulf Islands next week, will present a highly attractive program to island dwellers. In the first place, Iona Robertson, with her record of most success in recital work in the Old Country and elsewhere, is a dramatic reciter of wide experience, and in her attractive selection of old English and Scottish songs she makes a popular appeal to her audience. Mrs. Clifford Warn, who has already visited the islands on several occasions, has consented to give a vocal contribution in addition to her work as accompanist throughout the program. She will later sing a duet with Claude Anstead, whose beautiful tenor voice will also be heard to great effect in that great solo "Onaway, Awake Beloved" from "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" by Coleridge-Taylor. Mr. Anstead is a young tenor with every prospect of a splendid career ahead of him, and his share of the program will include "Sylvia" by Oley Speaks, "Red Devon by the Sea" (Clarke), "Sally Roses" (Bostelmann), and other songs. The party will appear at Hope Bay, Ganges, Galliano Island and Mayne.

ST. PATRICK'S CONCERT

The Irish concert and tableau put on by the South Saanich Union Church Choir in Temperance Hall, Keating, on St. Patrick's night, was largely attended.

Rev. T. G. Griffiths acted as chairman for the evening.

The first part of the program was a concert consisting of old Irish songs, solos, quartettes and choruses, including "The Wearin' o' the Green," "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," "Off In The Chilly Night," "Coolan Dhu," "The Dear Little Shamrock," "Paddy, The Rascal," "The Last Rose Of Summer," "Asthore," "The Rose Of Tralee," and others.

The second part of the program was an Irish tableau entitled "Erin," attended by Irish singers, jokers, fiddlers, spinners, weavers and fish-girls representing Donegal carpets, Beileek potters, Belfast ship-builders and Irish fairies.

The whole affair was full of Irish wit and humor and proved very successful.

The choir was under the leadership of Mrs. T. P. Morrow, who arranged the program.

AUXILIARY MEETING

The monthly meeting of the senior branch of St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity Women's Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Gwynne, "Ardmore," on Wednesday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Gwynne, was in the chair and opened the meeting with a splendid address.

Owing to the absence of the treasurer there was no financial report.

The secretary, Mrs. Barker, read the minutes of the last meeting, and the other secretaries gave their reports.

A long letter was read giving the address of Mrs. De Pender at the conference, which was very interesting.

One new member was welcomed. After the meeting adjourned Mrs. Gwynne served tea.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Matthews.

NARROW ESCAPE

FULFORD HARBOUR, March 19. —The residence of Mr. Johnny Sparrow had a narrow escape from fire on Tuesday evening. The occupants were ignorant of the fact that the roof was burning till some neighbors gave the alarm, and assisted to extinguish the blaze before much damage was done.

"Molke," said Patrick, "you look down in the mouth. Has anything happened to you?"

"Rotten luck, badad! A big beam just fell on a man at the factory and killed him," replied Mike.

"An' was he a friend of yours?" inquired Patrick.

"No," said the other, "but the man I owed the dollars to, begorra, was standin' right next to him, and escaped as if by a miracle."

AT THE AUDITORIUM

VALENTINO RETURNS IN "MONSIEUR BEAUCAIRE"

"Monsieur Beaucaire," the new Paramount picture directed by Sidney Olcott, which marks the return of Rudolph Valentino to the screen, will be shown at the Auditorium theatre Friday and Saturday.

The world and his wife—particularly his wife—will see in this simple announcement visions of a film feast for which their movie appetites have been hungering these many months.

It isn't difficult to understand why this photoplay is awaited with such keen expectations. Aside from the tremendous personal popularity of Valentino to whom millions pay tribute as the greatest lover of the silver sheet, film fans who have read Booth Tarkington's immortal story, with its romantic, colorful and spectacular background of the court of King Louis XV. of France, recognize its remarkable pictorial possibilities. It is a story that thrills the imagination, kindles the emotions, and satisfies that fundamental human desire for love, beauty, laughter and truth.

There is something vital and appealing about the character that Valentino portrays—the brave hearted, impetuous Duke, who defies the King of France and goes to England disguised as a barber. It is a part that brings into play all those robust dramatic qualities that Valentino possesses and which have made him one of the most fascinating and compelling screen stars of today.

No effort, no expense was spared to make "Monsieur Beaucaire," from an artistic standpoint, "a thing of beauty and a joy forever." The gorgeous and historically correct costumes were designed and made in Paris. The glitter of gold and silver brocade, the sparkle of diamonds and sapphires, the flash of jewelled swords—all the beauty and splendor and brilliancy of the most magnificent court in the world's most romantic period are pictured with amazing fidelity. It's history come to life in all its vividness and grandeur!

We realize the painstaking care that went into the making of this production when we consider the supporting cast with which Director Sidney Olcott has surrounded Mr. Valentino: Bebe Daniels, as the Princess de Bourbon-Conti; Lowell Sherman, as King Louis XV.; Lois Wilson, as the queen; Doris Kenyon, as Lady Mary; Paulette Goddard, as Mme. Pompadour; John Davidson, as Richelieu; Ian MacLaren, Oswald Yorke, Flora Finch and about fifty others equally well-known.

And here's a parting word of suggestion, come early if you want to avoid the rush!

WARNING CAUSES RUSH

Following a warning issued by the Provincial Motor License office this week a rush of motorists to secure personal driving licenses has ensued. The fee of one dollar charged is a lifetime provision, and has not to be repeated.

No exceptions and even police officers of the Provincial and city forces are to handle cars. The object of the measure is to ensure competent operation of cars on the highway and some means of checking up habitual offenders against the rules of safety and common sense.

RAMBLINGS

"Come away, beyond the storms
Ever shines the blue;
Come away, beyond the forms
Ever dwells the true."

Gamblers on the wheat market in Winnipeg and Chicago are having all the thrills they want these days. The evening paper describes the scene on the Winnipeg market on St. Patrick's Day as a "Donnybrook Fair." It is to be hoped no heads were broken.

The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa have taken a very strong stand against the order respecting the entrance into Canada of goods packed in straw being relaxed. While this may result in hardship in some cases, it should have the support of all fair-minded people. The enormous cost to California last year should be a warning. It is reported that that epidemic entered by a shipment packed in straw from Japan.

Railway wages increased between 1914 to 1922 more than double. If the rate of pay was increased 50 per cent. over 1914, a saving of 75 millions would be the result in operating cost of railways. Freight rates, discrimination and deficiencies could be eliminated.

The Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, known as the "Gloomy Dean," has been talking again. He fears we in "Canada are more drawn to the U.S. than to England." A visit to Canada would do this gentleman good, a few months out in the great open spaces would put new life and vigor into him, and would help to improve his outlook on life.

The committee in charge of the Victoria Day celebrations have decided to extend the carnival to June, to include Dominion Day, 1st of July. Why omit Labor Day in September? Victoria should realize that there are other districts that do a little celebrating. July the 1st has been a North Saanich day for some years, and South Saanich has put on a big picnic the last two years.

"Daylight Saving" or "Fast Time" commences the first Sunday in May in Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa New York City starts April 26. In Great Britain, France and Belgium legislation has been passed to make this innovation permanent. Why does Canada lag behind?

"I Suffered Terribly With Sore, Aching Back"

Mrs. Roland Ferguson, 194 Lake St., Peterboro, Ont.,

writes:

"For over two years I suffered terribly with sore back. I was almost mad with the pain, and had doctored with it until I was discouraged. Then my father, who is a firm believer in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I followed his advice, and am glad to say I was completely relieved of that torturing pain in my back. It is over a year since I used these pills, and I have had no return of the trouble, but always keep them in the house."

CHAPTER XXII.—Continued.

"Yes. An old, old woman," said Shere Ali, dwelling upon the words with a quiet, cruel pleasure. He had the picture clear before his eyes, he saw it in the flame of the lamp at which he gazed so steadily—an old, wizened, shrunken woman, living in a bare room, friendless, and solitary, so old that she had even ceased to be aware of her unhappiness, and so coarsened out of all likeness to the young, bright English girl who had once dwelt in Cawnpore, that even her own countryman had hardly believed she was of his race. He set another picture side by side with that—the picture of Violet Oliver as she turned to him on the steps and said, "This is really good-bye." And in his imagination he saw the one picture merge and coarsen into the other, the dainty trappings of lace and ribbons change to a shapeless cloak, the young face wither from its fresh beauty into a wrinkled yellow mask. It would be a just punishment, he said to himself. Anger against her was as a lust at his heart. He had lost sight of her kindness and her pity; he desired her and hated her in the same breath.

"Are you married, Ahmed Ismail?" he asked.

Ahmed Ismail smiled.

"Truly, Huzoor."

"Do you carry your troubles to your wife? Is she your companion as well as your wife? Your friend as well as your mistress?"

Ahmed Ismail laughed.

"Yet that is what the English women are," said Shere Ali.

"Perhaps, Huzoor," replied Ahmed, cunningly, "it is for that reason that there are some who take and do not give."

He came a little nearer to his Prince.

"Where is she, Huzoor?"

Shere Ali was startled by the question out of his dreams. For it had been a dream, this thought of capturing Violet Oliver and plucking her out of her life into his. He had played with it, knowing it to be a fancy. There had been no settled plan, no settled intention in his mind. But to-night he was carried away. It appeared to him there was a possibility his dream might come true. It seemed so not alone to him, but to Ahmed Ismail too. He turned and gazed at the man, wondering whether Ahmed Ismail played with him or not. But Ahmed bore the scrutiny without a shadow of embarrassment.

"Is she in India, Huzoor?"

Shere Ali hesitated. Some memory of the lessons learned in England was still alive within him, bidding him guard his secret. But his memory was no longer strong enough. He bowed his head in assent.

"In Calcutta?"

"Yes."

"Your Highness shall point her out to me one evening as she drives in the Mairan," said Ahmed Ismail, and again Shere Ali answered:

"Yes."

But he caught himself back the next moment. He flung away from Ahmed Ismail with a harsh outburst of laughter.

"But this is all folly," he cried. "We are not in the days of the uprising; for thus he termed now what a month ago he would have called 'The Mutiny.' 'Cawnpore is not Calcutta,' and he turned in a gust of fury upon Ahmed Ismail. 'Do you play with me, Ahmed Ismail?'"

"Upon my head, no! Light of my life, hope of my race, who would dare?" and he was on the ground at Shere Ali's feet. "Do I indeed speak follies? I pray your Highness to be think you that the summer sets its foot upon the plains. She will go to the hills, Huzoor. She will go to the hills. And your people are not fools. They have cunning to direct their strength. See, your Highness, is there a regiment in Peshawar whose rifles are safe, guard them however carefully they will? Every week they are brought over the hills into Chitistan, that we may be ready for the Great Day," and Ahmed Ismail chuckled to himself. "A month ago, Huzoor, so many rifles had been stolen that a regiment in camp looked their rifles to their tent-poles, and so thought to sleep in peace. But on the first night the cords of the tents were cut, and while the men waked and struggled under the folds of the canvas, the tent-poles with the rifles chained to them were carried away. All those rifles are now in Kohara. Surely, Huzoor, if they can steal the rifles from the middle of a camp they can steal a weak girl among the hills."

Ahmed Ismail waited in suspense, with his forehead bowed to the ground, and when the answer came he smiled. He had made good use of this unexpected inducement which had been given to him. He knew very well that nothing but an unlikely chance would enable him to fulfil his promise. But that did not matter. The young Prince would point out the English woman in the Mairan and at a later time, when all was ready in Chitistan, a fine and obvious attempt should be made to carry her off. The pretence might, if occasion served, become a reality to be sure, but the attempt must be as public as possible. There must be no doubt as to its author. Shere Ali, in a word, must be committed beyond any possibility of withdrawal. Ahmed Ismail himself would see to that.

"Very well. I will point her out to you," said Shere Ali, and Ahmed Ismail rose to his feet. He waited before his master, silent and respectful. Shere Ali had no suspicion that he was being jockeyed by that respectful man into a hopeless rebellion. He had indeed lost sight of the fact that the rebellion must be hopeless.

"When," he asked, "will Chitistan be ready?"

"As soon as the harvest is got in," replied Ahmed Ismail.

Shere Ali nodded his head.

"You and I will go northwards tomorrow," he said.

"To Kohara?" asked Ahmed Ismail.

"Yes."

For a little while Ahmed Ismail was silent. Then he said: "If your Highness will allow his servant to offer a contemptible word of advice—"

"Speak," said Shere Ali.

"Then it might be wise, perhaps, to go slowly to Kohara. Your Highness has enemies in Chitistan. The news of the melons and the bags of grain is spread abroad, and jealousy is aroused. For there are some who wish to lead when they should serve."

"The son of Abdulla Mohammed," said Shere Ali.

Ahmed Ismail shrugged his shoulders as though the son of Abdulla Mohammed were of little account. There was clearly another in his mind, and Shere Ali was quick to understand him.

"My father," he said quietly. He remembered how his father had received him with his slender rifle cocked and laid across his knees. This time the slender would be fired if ever Shere Ali came within range of its bullet. But it was unlikely that he would get so far, unless he went quickly and secretly at an appointed time.

"I had a poor foolish thought," said Ahmed Ismail, "not worthy a moment's consideration by my Prince."

Shere Ali broke in impatiently upon his words.

"Speak it."

"If we travelled slowly to Ajmere, we should come to that town at the time of pilgrimage. There in secret the final arrangements can be made, so that the blow may fall upon an uncovered head."

"The advice is good," said Shere Ali. But he spoke reluctantly. He wanted not to wait at all. He wanted to strike now while his anger was at its hottest. But undoubtedly the advice was good.

Ahmed Ismail, carrying the light in his hand, went down the stairs before Shere Ali, and along the passage to the door. There he extinguished the lamp and cautiously drew back the bolts. He looked out and saw that the street was empty.

"There is no one," he said, and Shere Ali passed out to the mouth of the blind alley and turned to the left towards the Mairan. He walked thoughtfully and did not notice a head rise cautiously above the side of a cart in the mouth of the alley. It was the head of the reporter of Bande Mararam, whose copy would be absolutely too late for the press.

Here and There

In conjunction with the further loan of $3,000,000 for colonization to be authorized by the Quebec legislature this season, it is also intended to raise the bounty to settlers on the acreage cleared. At present the government gives a bonus of $6 an acre. It will be raised to $8 an acre. The province spent $30,000 in this way in the last fiscal year.

The amount of butter exported to Japan through Vancouver during 1924 was nearly twice that of 1923, according to figures supplied by the Japanese consulate at that point. The report shows that in 1924 the quantity was 476,454 pounds, as compared with only 299,695 pounds in 1923. Total cheese shipments to the same destination last year amounted to 2,685 pounds, as against only 40 lb. in 1923.

A recent analysis of immigration according to occupation of immigrants arriving in Canada since 1920 shows a steady increase in the ratio of agriculturists and domestic servants towards all others. In 1921 the figure was 35 per cent. It was 44 per cent for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1922, 47 per cent for the fiscal year 1923-24 and 51 per cent for the nine months April to December, 1924.

One of the outstanding features of the Grain Commission Board's report for the season 1922-23, was the tribute paid to the excellent service rendered by the Canadian Pacific Railway in handling the western crop. Though the company handled 105,000 cars of grain, it received only six complaints about lack of cars from the railway and commission combined. In 1923-24, with an even larger number handled, there were only eight complaints.

Orchestras from the Canadian Pacific steamships "Empress of France" and "Empress of Scotland," when they arrived recently at New York and before sailing on their round the world and Mediterranean cruises which the company starts annually from that port broadcasted through WJZ a forty-five minute programme of selected Scots, English, Welsh, Irish and Canadian airs, while the "Montreal," on her return from the company's cruise to the West Indies, broadcasted British and Spanish music through WJY of New York.

Information furnished by J. Frank Callbreath, packing contractor and general merchant, shows that during the 1924 hunting season, parties secured 12 moose, 25 caribou, 26 goat, 31 sheep, 15 black bear and 11 grizzlies in the Telegraph Creek district of British Columbia. Of the caribou, the largest, shot by J. J. Sartori, of Brooklyn, N.Y., has a spread of 47 inches, is 39½ inches long and was 27 points. The largest sheep horns were 41½ inches long, with a spread of 31 inches, and were secured by A. D. Stewart, of New York.

The third annual Eastern International Dog Sled Derby, run off at Quebec on February 19, 20 and 21, was a tremendous success. Twenty-two mushers and their teams from many parts of Canada and the United States competed over the 120-mile course, the race being won by Emile St. Godard, of Le Pas, Man., who also won this year's derby at that place. The last day's lap was run through a blinding snowstorm, which gave the thousands of sports visitors from Canada and the United States who witnessed it, a vivid impression of normal conditions experienced by these outfits.

Mystery is it said, is the keynote of the north. Mystery always has been an attraction, something to draw men on and hold them. For it is no mere legend that the north ever calls back those who have once lived in the snow and the mountains, or through an Alaskan summer. What is true of Alaska is also, to a very great extent true of the east and western shores of Vancouver Island and of the northern mainland shoreline. Scarcely has one left Vancouver or Victoria than there dawns the feeling that here is a new life opening out. As everywhere there is charm, so also is there mystery. One stops off at little coastal villages to explore, or perhaps to fish or hunt, or study native life or industry, and the first thing that one runs into is the mysterious totem pole, that Indian "family tree," which has great significance in the aboriginal history and life of the Indians of the Coast, but which conceals its strange tales from the uninitiated white man.

Two striking examples of Indian art, totem poles which are said to be among the best on the Pacific Coast because of their excellent design, legendary and historical importance, have been brought from the west coast of Vancouver Island to Vancouver, B.C., where Mr. C. Bannister, who secured them from the Indians, has erected them in front of his home. They were made by the Hesquiat Indians and illustrate native legends and tribal history.

The Hesquiat Indians lay claim to being the first natives to see the white man in British Columbia. The tribe's legend of the seeing of these men dates back to 1788. The story told by these Indians is:

"Two Indians were travelling along the west coast in canoes and in a light mist. Suddenly out of the mist there loomed a giant canoe with white wings and skulls hanging from them. All over the decks of the boat scrambled strange-looking creatures such as they had never seen before. They had white faces and stone feet."

"One of the strange palefaces took a long stick and pointed it in the air and it spouted fire. Immediately a seagull fell dead."

"The two Indians in the canoe never recovered from the shock of this quick succession of strange and terrifying scenes and died on the spot."

The totems which Mr. Bannister has secured exceed twenty feet in height and have been set in concrete bases. The Great Eagle on the top of one of the poles was looked upon by Indians as a deity and is seen bringing the whale, which is also an emblem of great strength, to the powerful chief, Cee-Ta-Ka-Nim who was famous as a whale hunter.

When a potlatch, or great giving away feast was held, all of the people of the tribe would gather in the lodge of the chief and a human skull thrown in amongst them. The man who was able to get out of the lodge with the skull was the hero of the potlatch and attention. Cee-Ta-Ka-Nim evidently accomplished this feat as he is seen holding the skull in his hands. The large killer whale beneath is part of his family crest or emblem.

On the other pole the top figure is the official dancing mask of the Hesquiat chief. Beneath is depicted the legend of the Kingfisher and the Great Bear.

The Kingfisher was looked upon as a great prevaricator and boaster. One day the bear was walking by a creek where the Kingfisher was fishing. The Great Bear said "Tam-Moo-Kee, you are always boasting to everybody of what you can do, yet you never seem to do anything. Now you never hear me boast, but I will show you what I can do." He stood up on his hind legs and started to draw a serpent out of his stomach much to the astonishment and amazement of the Kingfisher.

In nearly all Indian legends the characters took on a dual personality, and were able at any time to change themselves into birds, animals or fishes.

Victoria Marks New Steamer's Arrival by Dinner to Pioneer of Coast Shipping

Group of Canadian Pacific officials photographed on board the new Princess Kathleen at Victoria, B.C.—Left to right, top row: W. B. Smith, general passenger agent, Vancouver; Charles Murphy, general manager western lines, Winnipeg; Captain J. W. Troup, who brought the Kathleen from her builders on the Clyde to her home port at Victoria; J. B. Scully, general manager, eastern lines, and Captain C. B. Scrimshaw, marine superintendent. Below, Princess Kathleen in action, and the Canadian Pacific Marine Terminal Building, Victoria, B.C., a handsome new building which does not detract from the beauty of the water front.

The arrival of the new Canadian Pacific coastal steamer "Princess Kathleen" at Victoria, B.C., at the end of her lengthy trip from the Clyde, Scotland, where she was built, was made a public event by the residents of that city. Crowds met the ship when she steamed into the harbor, and the occasion was marked by a civic dinner to Captain J. W. Troup, manager of the Canadian Pacific British Columbia Coast Service, which was attended by two hundred citizens. The Mayor and aldermen of the city were present, as well as representatives of the Provincial Government. The company was represented by Vice-President Grant Hall, J. J. Scully, general manager eastern lines, and C. B. Scrimshaw, chief of motive power and equipment, who crossed Canada from Montreal to be present, and Charles Murphy, general manager western lines, Winnipeg. As a recognition of his many years' effort in contributing to the upbuilding of Victoria, Captain Troup was presented with a massive silver tray suitably engraved.

In returning thanks, Captain Troup told the history of the company's coastal steamship service since 1901, when he had taken over its management. At that time it represented an investment of about $250,000, whereas, he said, it now amounted to well over seven million dollars, while its expenditures in Victoria for equipment and supplies amounted to $43,000 monthly and Victoria's share of the monthly pay roll was $65,000. He told of the building up of the fleet, ship by ship, as growing trade warranted. Captain Troup concluded by remarking that the officers and men of the Canadian Pacific were to co-operate for the public good.

partners with Victoria and other Canadian cities in building up the tourist traffic and general trade of Canada, and that the future of the country could be assured by co-operation with the company in its national work.

Mr. Grant Hall, who represented President E. W. Bontly, told of the company's history and of its building as a national institution at the time of Confederation when it contracted to build the line and operate it in perpetuity. He told of the steady improvement of the property by the expenditure of many millions until it represented an investment of considerably over a billion dollars, and he referred to the company's reputation for efficiency and courtesy of its officials that has gone round the world. "The Canadian Pacific," he said, "is the largest contributor to the finances of the nation through taxation, and we expect to be judged and patronized on justification given in service."

Mayor J. C. Pendray, speaking of behalf of the city of Victoria, acknowledged the work done by Captain Troup and the company for Victoria and the Pacific Coast generally, while C. P. W. Schwengler, president of the Chamber of Commerce, in presenting the silver plate to Captain Troup, paid a tribute to the vision and determination of the men who had founded the Canadian Pacific. Dr. MacLellan, Provincial Minister of Finance, spoke on behalf of the Government and referred to the company's war record which, he said, was one of the brilliant illustrations of the business of the company to co-operate for the public good.

WORLD'S POPULATION

It appears from statistics that the population of the world was, in round figures, 850 millions in 1800, and that by the year 1900 the figures had doubled themselves.

It appears also, according to forecast, that men and women are to increase at such a rate as to double themselves every 60 years.

Of course estimates are very uncertain things at their best; and prophecies don't amount to much, because conditions have a peculiar habit of changing to suit themselves, sometimes very hurriedly, and upsetting all man's calculations.

For instance, conditions during the nineteenth century were altogether different from what they are and promise to be in the twentieth. There was more religion, and the sense of responsibility to the race, which was regarded as a religious duty, prevailed in the last century, while it is almost totally lacking in the present one.

Moreover the people of the nineteenth century were not so wise as they are and are going to be in the twentieth.

So far as the highly civilized races of this earth are concerned, there is not the slightest danger of overcrowding at any time in the future, because the present tendency toward small families and even none at all, is going to increase as the years go by. The average is going to get less rather than more; and, for its future population, the world must turn to the lower or less cultivated race of men who are now creeping up behind us in the social scale along channels through which we have already passed. It would almost appear likely that the civilized races will one day be swallowed up by "hordes from the north" as was the fate of the Romans at the very height of their glory. And the present wave of race suicide that has overtaken the world may simply be another of Nature's schemes to prevent the demand for food getting too far beyond the maximum supply. For millions of years Nature has had this same problem to face, and so far as we can see the difficulty has always adjusted itself in a natural way. — Frase. Valley Record.

MAY LOCATE ON SIDNEY ISLAND

We hear that a plant is to be established on Sidney Island to extract oil and make poultry meal from dog-fish. It appears that fish meal is in great demand by poultry farmers as it is claimed more eggs are produced by use of same.

The Foro Products, Ltd., of Sidney, are already marketing fish meal for poultry, and, we believe, with considerable success. Slowly, but surely industries are coming this way. Others will come along sooner if we only make known to prospective manufacturers the opportunities that await development here.

ISLANDS GETTING READY FOR VISITORS

Many tourists will take a jaunt over to Salt Spring Island this season. Many improvements are being made for visitors to enjoy themselves, summer cottages and camping grounds are being made ready and launches will meet the ferry boats coming into Sidney.

The Islands are due for more attention than ever before as many people on the "Big Island" intend to spend some time this season in getting acquainted with beauty spots nearer home.

NOTES BY THE WAY By OBSERVER

"Do you long for the peace of snow-mantled ranges where the mountains kiss high heavens; or do you crave the unresting sea alive with mystery?" This is not an extract from a Quebec newspaper, but is from an advertisement that has been placed by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce in periodicals of large circulation in the United States. They have begun to realize that people want to see snow and ice once and awhile, as has been illustrated by the rush of tourists to Quebec the past few winters. The winter tourist business in Quebec has been found to rival the summer trade, with the difference that while the summer tourist tries to "do" the city in one day or less, the winter tourist comes to stay awhile, and take part in the sports of the period. The cities of the Pacific North-West are getting wise to this and are trying to capitalize it. More luck to them.

Many of the leading newspapers of the United States are publishing a note of warning to the people of their country not to kill the geese which lay the golden eggs. The wheat exporter in the U.S. has his own way for a long time. Backed up by the wheat growers and the Department of Agriculture he has been making big money in the export of wheat to Great Britain and Europe. The fact that the Dominions have been trying to make better terms with the Mother Country, especially with reference to preference to goods, the produce of the Dominions have awakened many of the newspapers. On the question of the export of wheat from the Dominions to Great Britain, an American periodical, one of the largest in line of circulation has this to say: "Up to the present wheat pools in the Dominions have operated under financial difficulties. But if large financial concerns in Great Britain ally themselves with the Dominion wheat pools, the wheat growers of the United States and Argentina may face a bearish atmosphere when they offer their next crop of wheat on the markets of Europe." But our own wheat growers should take notice and not try and force the price of wheat to prohibitive heights.

The police in the city of Victoria are getting busy with reference to the lighting of autos, and with good results. It is a pity that they could not extend their campaign into unorganized territory. A pedestrian and law-abiding autoist are constantly menaced with the dangers of glaring lights, in many cases on light only and in some cases no lights at all. Something should be done or human life may suffer.

Many of the cities are complaining of the actions of the attorney-general in sending Provincial Police into the municipalities to handle the liquor question. Perhaps a few of them sent into unorganized territory would take them away from the cities, and do some real good. While the bootleggers in cities sell mostly to people of mature years, the country bootlegger in most cases sells to young men, who think they are having a good time by patronizing him. A stop should be put to the activities of these gentry before irreparable damage has been done.

NORAH FIXED IT

"Did you mail those two letters I gave you, Norah?" "Yes'm, at the post office. But I noticed that you'd put the two-cent stamp on the foreign letter and the five-cent stamp on the city one." "Oh, dear, what a blunder!" "But I fix it all right, ma'am. I just changed the addresses on the envelopes."

"Seems to me," said the ladder, "I'm always up against it."

About the time a man needs a new car he hears of some device that will make his old engine better than new and he buys it and it doesn't.

Doc Manning says he drives a flivver and then his medicines are all well shaken before taken.

The ladies are superior, thinks Mr. Brown. No pedestrian can make a car stop by looking daggers.

"Did you get your wife a nice birthday present?" asked the village postmaster of the laziest citizen.

"Got her one worth $1,000," answered the shiftless one proudly.

"Good Lord! A car?"

"Naw. Year's job at the laundry."

Bob: I didn't rent a garage. What's the best thing to do with my car tonight?

Peg: Oh, about three miles per hour.

The time is here when the modern house is a garage with sleeping porch above, located near a delicatessen store.

Miss DeStyle—"So you were riding with Titewadde. I suppose you passed everything on the road."

Miss Rosa—"You bet: including eight ice cream parlors and sixty soda fountains."

It is well to look before you leap. You may jump in front of a bigger car.

RUDE RURAL RHYMES

JOHN PREACHER

I offer here some Sunday features for would-be Tal-mages and Beechers. From January to December, the tongue's a most unruly member. Some good old scout who fought the devil prayed God to keep his mouth from evil. God give to me serenity, in speech a mild urbane, my lips restrain that I refrain from needlessly inflicting pain. Mean, bitter words that prick like pins are not the least of human sins. Johnny Preacher got your gun, while other sins you're bagging, and shoot a round or two of shot against the sin of nagging. I reprobate promiscuous fussing and also plain and fancy cussing. I do not think your soul is lost because you put a "damn" across. The angels likely have to grin the way some fellows bring them in, but calling on the Lord in vain gives decent people grief and pain. Johnny Preacher got your gun and oil its every bearing, then turn the good old blunderbuss against the sin of swearing. O darn the man whose lies and sneers keep all the neighbors on their ears, who gathers human filth and spittle to make it a little tit-bit. Johnny Preacher got your gun, a load of buckshot hand 'er, then pour some pellets in the pants of him who utters slander.

JOHN PREACHER

who will appear on Monday night at the Auditorium Theatre, under the auspices of the Union church committee.

A blue-jacket, home on leave and celebrating the occasion, had got himself into a dilemma. He had hired a taxi, only to discover when approaching his destination that he was penniless. He had dined and wine, not wisely, but too well. But the navy is a training school of resourcefulness. He caught up the speaking tube, shouted "Stop!" and jumped out. "I just want to pop into this cigar store and get some matches," he explained to the driver. "I've dropped a $5 bill somewhere in the cab and can't find it in the dark." He entered the cigar store and as he did so the cab and its driver vanished into the night, as he had anticipated.

LIBERAL MEETING

A meeting of the North Saanich Liberal Association provisional committee was held in Matthews' Hall on Monday last.

Mr. Ed. Blackburn was chairman of the meeting, and there was a good attendance.

It was decided to hold a general meeting Monday, March 30, to which all members and friends are invited.

The delegation reported on the successful issue of the representation made to the Hon. Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works. It was explained to the committee that the work on the East road was being done under the "Highway Act," and that the money does not come out of the local appropriation, but is financed by the motor and gasoline taxes and that rumors that were in circulation to the contrary were without foundation.

Reference was also made to certain insinuating remarks that were being circulated in regard to government servants in the district and it was stated that unless a stop was put to this campaign action would be taken and some of the parties called upon to produce evidence.

Other routine business was attended to.

The meeting then adjourned.

Here and There

Southern Alberta is to have another addition to its growing list of titled ranchers, according to report. The Duc de Nemours, a descendant of Louis Philippe of France, it is stated, is sailing in April to visit Lord and Lady Rodney, who have a ranch at Fort Saskatchewan, and, later, to acquire a homestead near the establishment of the Prince of Wales.

The Nova Scotia Technical College assays under direction of the Dominion Council of Scientific Research indicate Nova Scotia oil shales to be the richest in the world, giving fifty gallons of high-grade paraffin to a ton of shale. One hundred million tons of the shale are readily accessible, and vast oil industries similar to those of Colorado and the Western States might well come into being in this province.

"I find general business conditions quiet but improving throughout Canada and undoubtedly the increase in the price of farm products will prove very encouraging to the west," said Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on his return from a recent tour of the Dominion. "Large orders for hardware shipped over our lines of late to the west indicate that the crop money is now beginning to circulate more readily, which in its turn is a mark of the farmer's confidence in the country."

There was a general increase in all phases of the lumbering industry in Canada during 1923, as compared with the previous year, according to the latest report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The average value of the output in that year amounted to $139,894,677, as compared with $114,324,580 in 1922, an increase of 22.4 per cent. In this respect the lumbering industry comes third on the list of manufacturing industries in Canada, with the pulp and paper industry first and the flour and grist mills second.

Passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of France," now touring the world, had a unique experience recently while visiting Ceylon. Returning from a run out to Kandy, the old capital of the Cingalese Kings and Site of the Temple of the Tooth of Buddha, a train-load of the travellers was held up by a herd of wild elephants which, hemmed in on either side by the jungle, ambulated along the track ahead. This was a feature of the journey which delighted those of the tourists who were not anxious about missing the ship.

Viola Dana, the famous motion picture actress, whose work has delighted millions, is to be the star of a drama to be filmed at Banff, according to a recent report. Miss Dana journeyed from New York to Montreal and then across the continent via Canadian Pacific Railway, in order to join her company for the film. The remainder of the cast are proceeding to Banff from Los Angeles and it is expected that shooting of the scenes will commence shortly. A very considerable number of big pictures have already been taken at Banff, which seems to have a great attraction for discerning stars and directors who appreciate the beauty of the scenery.

MONEY IN THIS CROP

One crop of green peas grown under contract for the cannery at Emo, Rainy River district, Ontario, last summer, paid for the farm of 160 acres, according to advices received by the colonization department of the Canadian National Railways. The land, with improvements, cost $7,500. Last year 100 acres was cropped to peas and $72 an acre was realized from the harvest. In addition to the peas a large amount of the green straw was converted into ensilage for winter cattle feed.
